ASSASSINATED

Premier of Greece Mortally Wounded.

STABBED BY GAMBLER

Theodore P. Delyannis Assassinated on Entrance to Chamber of Deputies.

DIED IN ABOUT THREE HOURS

The Assassin, Who Was Immediately Arrested, Said He Committed the deed Out of Revenge for Stringent Measures taken by Premier against gambling.

Athens, Greece, June 13.—Theodore P. Delyannis, the popular premier, was stabbed and mortally wounded by a professional gambler named Gherakaris at the main entrance to the chamber of deputies at 5 o'clock P. M. today.

The assassin, who was immediately arrested, said that he committed the deed out of revenge against the stringent measures taken by the Premier Delyannis against gambling houses, all of which were recently closed. The premier arrived at the entrance of the chamber in a carriage. Gherakaris approached, saluted the premier and opened the carriage door. The premier was in the act of thanking Gherakaris for his courtesy when the gambler planted a long dagger in M. Delyannis' abdomen, inflicting a frightful wound.

The murderer was overpowered by the attendants. Medical assistance was immediately summoned and the wounded man taken to the Red Cross station where an operation was performed in an effort to stop internal hemorrhage. This was unsuccessful and the premier died at 7:30 o'clock.

The news spread quickly but it is impossible to describe the evidence of the sorrow or anger of the crowds, who attempted to lynch the assassin. The lynching was prevented by the gendarmes, who rushed the prisoner from the building to the prison. It is estimated that 20,000 persons witnessed the removal of the body from the Red Cross station to his late residence.

Members of the cabinet and chamber of deputies were among the crowd, many weeping. The cabinet met this evening at the residence of the president of the chamber and decided that the body lie in state in the chamber until interment. King George, who was at Taori, announced that he would at once return to Athens. An investigation by the police showed that Gherakaris was recently liberated from prison, having been sentenced to 18 years for the murder of his wife.

WITHIN THE PRESCRIBED LIMIT

It is Incompatible With the Idea of a Constitutional Monarchy That the King Sink to the Position of a Mere Tool of the State Council for his Acts.

Stockholm, June 13.—King Oscar, in a long and vigorously worded letter to the president of the Norwegian storting declares the accession to the throne and oath of Norway king makes it the king's duty not to pass over in silence the preference of the Norwegian council of state on the occasion of his majesty's veto of the consular bill. The king maintains that he did not overstep his prerogatives under the constitution and says that a consideration for the union imposes upon the king the duty of exercising constitutional rights.

The king demands respects for his rights as king in accordance with the constitution in order to promote the welfare of the country according to his convictions. Because no member of the council or state has regarded himself as in a position to countersign the veto, did not make the vote unconstitutional.

He states that it is incompatible with the idea of a constitutional monarchy that the king sink to the position of a mere tool of the state council, as would be the case if it was necessary for the state council to countersign his acts. He says that when he vetoed the act he not only met the refusal of the council to countersign it, but by the resignation of its members. More than that, the reigning counselors threatened to expatriate and Norwegian who co-operated in carrying out the decision.

After this attempt of the council to violate the constitution, the storting approved their stand by declaring legitimate that the king of Norway ceased to reign and the union of the two kingdoms was dissolved.

Do not give yourselves entirely to the enjoyment of literature, leaving the republic to take care of itself. You owe to your country the duty of serving it with all the advantages of your education, for who shall say that within the next decade the suffrage shall not be extended to men and women as it has already been in many of the states who shall say that before gray hairs shall come to your heads, women like Queen Victoria, shall not sit in the White House to glorify this nation as Victoria glorified England?"
